

Loitering law enforcement nets two at "The Corner"

BY D.C. HARVILL

Two arrests were made Friday evening as a result of Bay St. Louis' new loitering law. Shirley Reed, 20, 614 Keller St., Bay St. Louis, was arrested at the corner of Sycamore and St. Francis Streets and charged with disorderly conduct after being advised by police officers several times to either enter a building or leave the area. She refused and was arrested, according to Bay Police Investigator Shane Corr.

Ernest Saucier, 36, Apt. #3 State Street, Bay St. Louis was arrested inside the MCM Club, a lounge at the corner, on a warrant from the Pass Christian Police Department.

Friday afternoon, city workers posted "No Loitering signs" at several locations around the city. According to Detective Tom Burleson, the signs at the corner were taken down some time Saturday by unknown individuals.

Because the area where the signs were posted is public property, no signs are necessary for an arrests to be made.

"We just wanted to let people know the law was in affect before we made any arrests," Burleson said.

According to the law, which went into effect in September, people loitering or "hanging around" in a public place, or private place posted by the owner, and who create a danger, breach of the peace, a disturbance or annoyance, obstructs free passage of pedestrians or vehicles or causes others to fear for their safety, is subject to arrest.

The locations checked by police Friday were Sycamore and St. Francis, Beach Boulevard and Washington Street, the downtown section of Beach Boulevard, and the Ulman Street Pier.

"On the beach people gave us total cooperation. We had no altercations, they obeyed all police officers orders," Corr said.

According to Corr, random patrols of the above areas will be beefed up and the loitering law "will be enforced."

BEAR DOWN—Conservation Officer Andy Elchos shows a black bear that was hit by a motor home. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill) Friday night. The 217 pound male bear, estimated at two and a-half years old, was hit while crossing Interstate 10.

Black bear meets death by motor home on I-10

BY D.C. HARVILL

There are few bears in Mississippi and, as of Friday night, they number one less.

About 10:30 Friday evening, a California couple travelling eastbound in their motor home on Interstate 10 approximately five miles from the Louisiana line, struck a Southern black bear that was trying to cross the highway.

The bear's fatal dash cost him his life and damaged the motor home's radiator and a fiberglass front panel, interrupting the couple's vacation plans for three days while the vehicle was being repaired.

Vinancio "Ben" Cano, driver of the motor home, and his wife Jananna of San Diego, are bear lovers and were saddened by the accident, Cano said.

"I saw something kind of dark dash out. I tried to miss it, but it ran right in front of me. I sort of thought it was a bear, but I hoped it wasn't," Cano said.

Cano pulled the incapacitated motor home into the emergency lane further down the road and spent the night.

"I didn't want to get out where I hit him, in case it was a bear and had only been injured," he said.

A sheriff's deputy spotted the bear's body beside the road and contacted conservation officers who retrieved the body and assisted the Canos.

"While waiting to get the motor home repaired, we've been taking in the sites. We've been really impressed with the people we've met here; everyone is so willing to help," Cano said Monday.

Jananna Cano was working on a children's book she is writing when she felt the thrill. The book features a bear and a beaver, Ben Cano said.

The couple also had a large teddy bear in a car they were towing behind the motor home.

"Jananna is really into

County plans to build convenience centers to replace dumpsters

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors plans to change the arrangements for garbage collection in the county.

Two new facilities called "convenience centers" will be constructed to replace some of the dumpsters currently being used, County Maintenance Superintendent Sam Cuevas said.

The two will replace the dumpsters at the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department's station at Washington and Chapman Roads, at Cuevas-town and at the Jervis Moran site on Old Kiln-Picayune Road.

The centers will be located at the Washington-Chapman site and at the county's north maintenance barn in Kiln.

"They are basically fenced, lighted, manned facilities," Cuevas explained.

Each will have a compactor for household garbage as well as an open-top container for trash. Materials brought to the centers will have to be separated either at the site or before being brought there, he added.

Centers will be open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., seven days each week.

The compactors and containers will be supplied by Gulf Coast Waste, the county's current garbage contractor, for a monthly fee that Cuevas said is roughly the same as that for the dumpster sites.

Gulf Coast Waste will also continue as the county's garbage hauling contractor.

Two people will be assigned to each site. Cuevas said two of them are already county employees and are already provided for in the county budget, but the maintenance department will have to hire two people part-time.

Cuevas recently went to Jackson, Tenn., to observe a county's operation of convenience centers.

"Up there, they have found that use of the convenience centers cuts down on abuse," he said. "People are glad to use them because they are a manned, clean area and people don't mind going there."

There are several benefits to a manned site, he added.

"For one thing, there is no confusion about what goes where. The people manning the site can explain how the trash needs to be separated."

Another is the alleviation of a problem which occurred with the dumpsters, which was an overflow of garbage and trash between scheduled pick-ups.

Christmas parade rolls in Bay St. Louis tonight

The annual Christmas Parade and Tree Lighting Ceremony sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will roll at 7 p.m. tonight in Bay St. Louis.

The parade will travel from the corner of Highway 90 and Beach Boulevard to Main Street and will end at the Hancock County Courthouse.

Musician Pete Fountain is the grand marshal for this year's parade, sharing the lime-light with a special guest from the North Pole, Santa Claus.

The parade will feature the Keesler Drum and Bugle Corps, marching bands, and entries by civic groups, radio stations and schools.

People living along the parade route are asked to turn on their porch lights and those attending the parade are asked to bring flashlights to help light the way for Santa.

The Chamber thanks Adams Loraine Flower Shops for donating decorations for the courthouse. They also express their appreciation to Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler's office for contributing additional decorations.

1945 Heisman winner donates trophy to SSC

BY DENA BISNETTE

When an athlete is recognized for excellence in college sports, it tends to be expected because he had to be one of the best to get there. But, when an athlete donates his Heisman Trophy to his old high school, "expected" is likely to be the last word that applies.

Felix A. Blanchard Jr., better known as "Doc" Blanchard, has donated three of his trophies, including his 1945 Heisman, to his alma mater, St. Stanislaus.

Brother Aquin Gauthier went with the brother of one of Blanchard's St. Stanislaus teammates, Ben Klempeter of Baton Rouge, La., to Blanchard's residence in San Antonio, Texas, to pick up the trophies last week.

Gauthier took the Heisman to New Orleans Wednesday to try to make arrangements for a permanent display at St. Stanislaus.

He said a custom-made case will probably be built for the trophy, which stands more than a foot high and features a bronze figure of a ballcarrier stiff-arming his way down the field.

"We're very proud that Doc would give his Heisman Trophy to St. Stanislaus, and we know it will have a great influence on our students and alumni," he commented.

The donation to a high school rather than the athlete's college is extremely rare and could be a first as far as the Heisman is concerned, he added.

The other two donated awards are the Maxwell Trophy and the Sullivan Award, which

SEXUAL BATTERY

A 17-year-old juvenile male has been arrested by Bay St. Louis Police and charged with the sexual battery of a 7-year-old girl.

The incident occurred at approximately 6:30 Tuesday evening and was reported by the girl's parents. The arrest was made at about 9:40 p.m., according to Detective Tom Burleson.

ECSTASY ARRESTS

Three people have been arrested by Bay St. Louis police on drug charges.

Russell L. Jordan, 20, 413 Ballentine St., Bay St. Louis, has been charged with possession of a controlled substance, Ecstasy and for sale of a controlled substance, according to Detective Tom Burleson.

Jordan's bond has been set at $100,000. Also arrested are John Dalton Lee, 26, 1106 Rue de Lasalle, Waveland; and Edward Scott Scarborough, 22, of BaySide Park.

Lee is charged with possession of a controlled substance Ecstasy and acid. His bond has been set at $100,000. Scarborough is charged with simple possession, marijuana. His bond has been set at $1,000.

The arrests are part of an ongoing investigation, according to Burleson.

bears," Cano said.

Mrs. Cano was so upset by the bear's death she gave the teddy bear to conservation officer C.J. Cameron to give to a needy child as partial restitution.

The tooth taken from the 217 pound male bear indicated it was two and a-half years old. He was large for his age, according to Cameron.

It is not known if the bear is the same one that created a stir in Bay St. Louis earlier this year.

The Southern black bear (Ursus americanus) is considered an endangered species in Mississippi.

The bear's body was taken to the Mississippi Museum of Natural History for study. The museum already has a number of bears in its collection and does not plan to keep the one killed in Hancock County.

Cameron said he would like to see the bear brought back to the Coast, where he believed a taxidermist might be willing to stuff it at no charge, and placed in the Hancock County Courthouse.

ST. ANN CHURCH NEWS

A thought for meditation from our pastor Father Justin Furman, ST.

"When you spread forth your hands, I will hide my eyes from you; even though you make many prayers, I will not listen; your hands are full of blood. Wash yourselves clean; remove the evil of your doings from before my eyes; cease to do evil, learn to do good; seek justice, correct oppression; defend the fatherless, plead for the widow."

Thursday, Dec. 7, 7 p.m., St. Ann Church, Clermont Harbor
Friday, Dec. 8, 9 a.m., St. John Church, Lakeshore

For the month of December Marie Reites will be responsible for the Offertory Procession during St. Ann's 4 p.m. Vigil Mass.

Mary's Helpers will meet in the parish hall at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 12. Speaker will be David Zeringue who will also present a video of "Sperry on Alabama."

The group meets once a month, and everyone is invited to attend.

Red Cross urges donors to give blood in December

The American Red Cross urges all eligible donors to give blood during this holiday season. Donating blood now, Red Cross officials say, will not only help keep the Gulf Coast blood supply at a safe level, but could also help prevent a possible emergency blood shortage.

"This is a very busy time of year and regular donors often forget or don't think they have time to give blood," said Red Cross donor resources director Sarah Erickson. "The entire donation process only takes about an hour and a variety of public donation sites should make donating convenient," she continued.

Eligible donors are encouraged to stop by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter House located at Fernwood and

He then returned to North Carolina, where his family lived, playing at University of North Carolina during his freshman year and then sitting out a year during his father's last illness.

While at West Point, from which he graduated in 1946, Blanchard was known as "Mr. Inside" and was a three-time All-American in addition to winning the Heisman, the Maxwell and the Sullivan, which are the three major trophies for amateur athletics and the last of which is seldom awarded to a football player.

Blanchard chose a military career as an Air Force pilot over professional football and retired in 1971 with the rank of colonel after having served 25 years. For two years after his retirement, he was commandant of New Mexico Military Academy before moving to San Antonio, his current residence.

In 1972, he was named to the St. Stanislaus Hall of Fame. In a telephone interview from San Antonio Wednesday, Blanchard said, "I thought it would be a nice thing to give it to the school. I hope some little kid will look at it and get some ambition; say 'Hey, maybe...'"

He said he chose St. Stanislaus to receive the trophies because "I sort of grew up there. I went there when I was only 13."

When asked if his gift of a Heisman to a high school was unique, he said he did not know. He is aware that some players give their Heismans to colleges or the National Football Hall of Fame. As for the rest, "I don't know what they do with them," he said.

Due to a military career and the travel involved, Blanchard said he has not retained strong ties to Mississippi, but has gotten back to Bay St. Louis a few times.

"I was there last year for the alumni golf tournament. I was the honored guest so I attended, and lost... It was good fun. I may go back to the golf tournament next year," he said.

He sent a message to St. Stanislaus students about the Heisman: "Go look at it and enjoy it. Let it tell you what it will tell you."

Blanchard is no longer involved in football, except to watch the sport on television. He said the high school version of the game changed a lot.

"Twice as many kids now, because when I played we played both both ways. Today's players have a lot more chance to practice at their particular specialty and their expertise is a lot better. It's a lot faster game," he said.

What he finds lacking in the new game is the kind of conditioning and stamina players had to have to last an entire game on both defense and offense.

"The fourth quarter was a different kind of game."

"Looking at it as a spectator sport, it has definitely improved," he said.

Dumpsters

After the dumpsters filled, people simply left their refuse on the ground, Cuevas explained.

Personnel manning the site can call if pick-ups need to be made between scheduled collections.

In addition, vandalism will be reduced and people who do not have the right to use the centers because they are not county residents or are dumping unacceptable materials can be kept out more easily.

"The open-top trash container has not been available before, which led to mixing that cost us money because our contractor charged us for household garbage no matter what was placed in the dumpsters," Cuevas said.

Use of larger containers and compactors at each site will also reduce the costs in the long run.

He said the county hopes to incorporate some recycling later, but nothing is ready to put into place yet.

Because the bids the supervisors opened Monday did not cover all the needed items, the county will have to readvertise for bids on some items.

In the meantime, the maintenance department is putting fill in place and preparing to put in concrete pads for the convenience centers, which Cuevas said will probably be ready to open in mid-January.

"We hope eventually to replace the dumpsters altogether," he said, adding that the dumpsters were a temporary measure implemented about a year ago after the closing of the landfill at Catahoula and will be phased out completely when the county receives necessary permits and completes construction at a new sanitary landfill in Standard.

"We hadn't planned to be doing this long, so we had to find some other way to do it," he said.

Trash dumps at Standard and Pearlinton will remain open and dumpsters will continue in use at all the other sites until further notice.

RUNAWAY FACES DRUG CHARGE

A 15-year-old juvenile being sought as a runaway has been found, but now the youth faces drug charges.

Bay St. Louis Police Officer Gus Aime picked up the youth, identified only as a white male, at about 6:02 p.m. Sunday. The boy had been reported as a runaway on Dec. 1 and was found at the corner of Sycamore Street and Beach Boulevard.

According to Investigator Shane Corr, the youth was charged with two misdemeanors, both possession of a controlled substance; and one felony charge of possession of a controlled substance after he was found to be carrying two grams of marijuana and nine blots of acid.

Corr said the youth is being detained in the Hancock County Justice Facility, pending a preliminary hearing in Youth Court on Dec. 13.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

This date some 48 years ago changed the life of every American alive at that time in addition to many more. The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor was the beginning of the War of All Wars, a war in which millions were killed along with millions left with injuries they carried to their graves.

I have had the opportunity of personally interviewing people who were at Pearl Harbor when Japan began World War II and I will always remember their stories. Several years ago Jane and I visited Pearl Harbor and the memories of the attack on the Arizona are still there.

December 7, 1941 is a day in history which will never be forgotten.

Since today is December 7, I feel that each of us should take a few minutes to remember those departed Americans who gave their lives for our freedom.

I received a telephone call from Conrad Mauffray at Coast Electric reporting his office is still collecting children's coats for deserving youngsters.

The project which has been in operation for several years is promoted by the Junior Auxillary in Harrison County, Mauffray said.

The St. Vincent DePaul Society is coordinating the coat distribution in Hancock County and there still is a big need for additional children's coats.

The Edgewater Cleaners in Biloxi cleans the donated coats free of charge.

The coats can be dropped off at Coast Electric and will be greatly appreciated. If you know of any children in need of a coat contact the St. Vincent DePaul Society.

Wednesday morning I had the opportunity of viewing Felix (Doc) Blanchard's Heisman Trophy he received in 1945, as a player with Army, the national college champs of that year.

Blanchard who was selected at the Heisman winner in 1945 also received the Maxwell and Sullivan trophies, the three top college football recognitions of that year.

He has donated the trophies to St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis, as he graduated from high school in the class of 1942.

His last year at St. Stanislaus, the football team was the best high school team in Mississippi and also defeated Jesuit 7-6, the best team in Louisiana that year.

Blanchard has now retired from the Air Force and resides in San Antonio, Texas.

Brother Acquin of St. Stanislaus reports the school is now in the process of securing a display case for the new trophies.

As soon as the view case is received, the trophies will be on display for the public.

By the way, Doc Blanchard's father was a 1915 graduate of St. Stanislaus. The football great received the nickname of Doc because his father was a medical doctor and was called (Little Doc) while at SSC.

I am sure there will be many folks awaiting an opportunity of viewing the trophies at St. Stanislaus.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

Government "of" -- not "off" the people

Earlier this year American taxpayers voiced loudly and clearly their displeasure with Congress' attempt to increase the salaries of its members. The present salaries in the $80,000 range are plenty, said the American public.

Consider now the $80,000, $90,000, and $100,000 earnings of some chancery clerks in Mississippi.

To be the poorest state in the nation, does not that seem odd?

That some chancery and circuit clerks in Mississippi's 82 counties are paid more than senators, congressmen, governors, and most other elected officials occurs because they operate on a fee system of compensation.

In other words, they get paid for practically every business transaction that takes place in their offices -- the offices which counties furnish and pay for with your taxes.

Rep. Leslie King of Greenville believes this has gone on too long. Next year, for the fourth time, he will introduce legislation to take chancery and circuit clerks off the fee system of pay and put them on a salary.

In fact, he says if he had his way, he would like to see the chancery clerk assume duties as a county administrator and the circuit clerk become a clerk of the courts. We agree. Mr. King says the present system does not demand efficiency, and he thinks it is unfair for clerks to be making money off equipment furnished by the county. In addition, he says, the system could be revised to increase the counties' expendable incomes. Mr. King is on the right track.

GED supervisor laments loss of funding for program

Dear Editor,
Please allow me to express my gratitude to Mrs. Lois Abrams, Charles Rollson, Gary Daniels and Mrs. Barbara Ferguson, teachers with the Hancock County GED/ABE Program for their cooperation, initiative and many other attributes, which has enabled individuals lacking a high school diploma an opportunity to get a compatible GED diploma.

Because we are off to such a good start and have experienced so many successes earlier, it is really difficult to report that the Hancock County GED/ABE program will be closing at the end of December because of lack of funding.

Due to things beyond my control, I have been unsuccessful in my attempts to get additional funding. I was informed there would be funding for next year's program, but that does not solve our existing problem.

It is my hope that each one of the students currently enrolled in our program will be persistent in their efforts to get their GED diploma.

Again, let me thank you, as a teacher and co-worker, for your daily efforts and dedicated service.

Sincerely,
David Kopf,
GED Supervisor

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

Lottery passage only within two or three votes in Senate

Mabus Administration forces believe they are "very close" to having enough votes to get Gov. Ray Mabus' lottery through the Senate, which figures to be the key hurdle for his education package funding proposal.

An administration source told this column that their head count in the Senate is now "within two or three votes" of the necessary two-thirds majority needed for approval of the measure.

Since the House has on three occasions in the past approved a lottery, the measure is not expected to encounter any difficulty in that end of the Capitol.

Lotteries are now barred by the state constitution. Therefore it will require a constitutional amendment ratified by the voters to permit a state lottery.

The Mabus forces are pushing the idea with senators that the issue is only a question of letting Mississippians decide if they want a lottery, not whether or not the individual lawmaker favors a lottery.

"Evidently some of the senators are hearing from their constituents and finding out that the people really want a lottery," a Mabus Administration source said.

The same source said Mabus' stand for a state lottery has given him considerably more rapport with the proverbial "redneck" voters in Mississippi, the rustic element of citizenry which has had difficulty accepting the Ivy League manner of the 41-year-old governor.

"Admittedly, there are a lot of people who come up to the governor and tell him they don't care that much about helping education but they're for the lottery," the administration figure said.

A recent poll commissioned by Mabus showed 70 percent of the voters statewide would vote in favor of a lottery. Northeast Mississippi was the least favorable area, but even there, 63 percent favored a lottery.

The poll also indicated that there was very little difference in response to a lottery between Baptists and voters of other religious faiths. Since the poll was conducted, however, the Mississippi Baptist Convention has taken a strong stand against a lottery and urged its 600,000 members to voice opposition to a lottery to legislators.

Mabus contends that a state lottery in Mississippi would produce $180 million in new revenue over the first three years to help fund his proposed $500 million education reforms which he calls "Mississippi's BEST."

The remaining $320 million for the three-year Mabus plan would come from taking 65 percent of the general fund revenue growth in the next three fiscal years, without increasing any taxes.

Mabus' funding plan has been criticized by several legislative fiscal leaders as "unrealistic." Their belief is a lottery in Mississippi would not produce the kind of revenue Mabus estimates, and that some tax increases will be essential if the whole education package is to be funded.

Source close to Mabus say the governor, who campaigned on a no-tax-increase platform, is determined to veto any tax bill sent to him by the Legislature.

Some in the administration fear that the Legislature will pass several "budget-buster" appropriations for major state programs other than education early in the 1990 session and put them on Mabus' desk in a move to force him to abandon his no-tax stance.

Mabus had planned to call a special session of the Legislature this month to tackle his ambitious education package, but he backed off suddenly amid speculation that he lacked the votes to pass the lottery. Mabus is now saying that he felt the Legislature deserved the chance to consider the education program first in a regular session.

Evidently, Mabus is not counting on getting his whole education package through the 1990 regular session. He is already mapping a strategy on how to deal with the probability that the Legislature will fragment his education program and hand him just pieces of the original package with a heavy overlay of the Legislature's own ideas.

What the plans to do is take what he can get out of the regular session and call lawmakers back into special session right afterwards to push for the rest of the program.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator
Trent Lott

Major differences between House and Senate Defense Bills

Several weeks ago, I talked about the differences between the Senate's version of the 1990 Defense Bill and the version approved by the House of Representatives. (Defense Bill: Good for Mississippi, Bad for America). In this column I would like to discuss the process for reconciling those disparities.

Every regular appropriations bill, including the Defense Bill, ends up in conference where a group of legislators from both houses hammers out points of conflict. Because I serve on the Senate Committee on Armed Services, I am a member of the conference that is debating next year's defense package.

When the two versions of a bill are similar, but not identical, a conference may last less than a day. However, if there are major differences between the two proposals, negotiations could last for weeks. The 1990 Defense Bill falls into the latter category.

Both sides agree on how much we should spend, approximately $300 billion, but disagree vehemently on how the money should be spent.

The Senate wants to continue extensive research efforts on the Strategic Defense Initiative (S.D.I.) and move forward with plans to purchase the B-2 stealth bomber, if further testing proves the program worthy of support. The House, meanwhile, wants to cripple S.D.I. and mothball the B-2.

Instead, the House wants to go ahead with plans to purchase the V-22 Osprey and the F-14D navy fighter plane, both opposed by the Administration. The Senate version would dramatically scale back the V-22 and terminate the F-14D Navy fighter plane.

The Senate bill, which emphasizes strategic modernization, is a forward looking proposal. The House, on the other hand, appears willing to leave America at risk. Not everyone in the House agrees with that body's plan. In fact, not everyone on the House Armed Services Committee agree with it. And that is part of the problem we face in

Should c

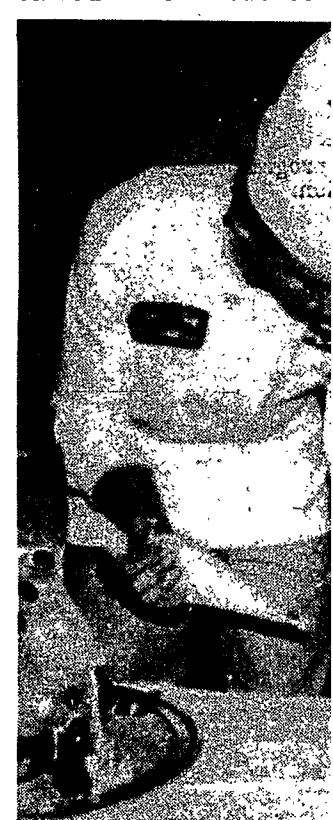

Our nation's number one question of the day, "Should we change the national anthem?" is bringing forth heated responses. Although the issue is not a new one—for it has been argued before—it seems to have come back with a vengeance (that means "we, the people" asked to express its wish).

Express them in writing, your congressmen. Your response is important. Do think our nation should continue to recognize "The Star-Spangled Banner" as our national anthem? Or do you think "America The Beautiful" should be adopted as our national anthem?

All points for or against the issue should be carefully weighed. After considering should you decide to write your congressman, he should reach him prior to 28.

To be knowledgeable, a historical research could be helpful. To arrive at a solution you might wish to consider the time-honored method of drawing a line down the middle of a sheet of paper and splitting points for "The Star-Spangled Banner" and for "America The Beautiful." Then you should review the wording, the music and the history of each.

In the review it might be helpful to recall that in March 1931 Congress adopted "The Star-Spangled Banner" as a national anthem. They already familiar with the (an old English drinking song called "To Anacreon conference. While the Senate is united behind its bill, I conferees can't agree on their own. This has made the negotiating even tougher.

However, I am optimistic that we will reach an agreement that is acceptable to the Senate and meets the needs of the national security. And proud to be a part of the framework for that agreement.

After all, I'm walking in pretty heavy shadows. I know about Sen. John Stennis' work on the Senate Armed Services Committee, but I was prised to learn that Mississippi was represented on the military committee established in the Senate. In 1817, Sen. H. (Thomas Hill) Williams resented Mississippi's presence on the Senate Naval Affairs Committee. After the Legislative Reorganization Act that committee was merged with the Military Affairs Committee to form what we refer to as the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Should our national anthem be changed?

Our nation's number one question of the day, "Should we change the national anthem?" is bringing forth heated responses. Although the issue is not a new one—for it has been argued before—it seems the hour has come when the public (that means 'we, the people') is asked to express its wishes.

Express them in writing to your congressmen. Your response is important. Do you think our nation should continue to recognize "The Star-Spangled Banner" as our national anthem? Or do you think "America The Beautiful" should be adopted as our new national anthem?

All points for or against the issue should be carefully weighed. After consideration, should you decide to write to your congressman, the mail should reach him prior to Feb. 28.

To be knowledgeable, a little historical research could be helpful. To arrive at a solution, you might wish to consider the time-honored method of drawing a line down the middle of a sheet of paper and specify points for "The Star-Spangled Banner" and for "America The Beautiful." Then you should review the wording, the music and the history of each song.

In the review it might be helpful to recall that in March 1931 Congress adopted "The Star-Spangled Banner" as our national anthem. They were already familiar with the tune (an old English drinking song called "To Anacreon in Heaven.") The tune was also used as a military march in the 1700's, and it appeared as a political song called "Adams and Liberty."

We are, of course, familiar with the history of the circumstances that prompted Francis Scott Key to grab an envelope out of his hip pocket and start writing the inspired verses, all 32 lines of them.

Key, a lawyer, was trying to get a prisoner released. His name was William Beanes. We don't know beans about the details, just that a bombardment started Sept. 13, 1814 and continued all day and all night. The prisoners didn't know who won the battle until around seven o'clock in the morning when the smoke cleared.

The song gives us a description of the battle with emotional comments that bring forth patriotism in "The land of the free and the home of the brave." "The Star-Spangled Banner" is very difficult to sing. Very few people can reach its highest notes. Rarely, if ever, is the entire poem sung. Some prefer to skip the first verse and sing the second one.

In recognition of Key's talent and patriotism, there now hangs the original flag in the Museum of History and Technology in Washington, D.C. It is a 50-foot long flag and takes up a whole lot of wall space. And with government permission, a flag flies over Key's grave at Frederic, Md. One flies over Fort Henry, too. That makes roughly 60 years of recognition and tradition connected with our national anthem.

Lots of flags wave over our land—our America the beautiful—and they are very dear and meaningful symbols. In our "America the Beautiful" space we note the taste and values of our citizens have changed through the years. We have grown, matured. Our values are different and our national interest is in keeping America beautiful, keeping America safe.

The song has a tune that is appealing. Its words tell of the pride citizens have in this beautiful country. It asks God's blessing. It is a plea to the Almighty to "stand beside us and guide us...with a light from above. The expanse of our country is recalled...fields of golden grain...from the Atlantic to the Pacific...from the mountains to the oceans."

"America The Beautiful" is a song that "we, the people"—all of us—from kindergarten to nursing home, can sing with feeling and spirit. It is a bright page in our history and reflects the sentiments expressed in the Statue of Liberty: "Lift my light beside the golden door."

It is a little-remembered fact that when Congress in 1931 selected "The Star-Spangled Banner" as our national anthem, "America the Beautiful" was a close competitor.

It seems that when Kathrine Lee Bates in 1893 visited Pike's Peak in Colorado, she was deeply impressed with the view from the summit and wrote the first draft of her poem, America The Beautiful.

Many people have since expressed the feeling that "America the Beautiful" would now be a more inspiring choice and would nearer reflect the character of our people and our land. Also, for our notes we should recall this song was presented as a musical salute to the Statue of Liberty.

Should you care to write to your congressman, you could use the address: The National Anthem, Box 1748, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10163

If in favor of making a change, our representative might be asked to co-sponsor H.R. 225.

Should you care to make a comment, it should be directed to the Sea Coast Echo "Letters to the Editor."

SSC Key club to sponsor pro life rally

The St. Stanislaus Key Club will sponsor a pro-life rally and march on Tuesday, Dec. 12, starting at 5:30 p.m. The rally will take place on the lawn in front of St. Stanislaus. Speakers from Baton Rouge and members of the local clergy will be featured.

The purpose of the rally and march is to heighten awareness of the problems of abortion, and to encourage a pro-life choice especially in young people. The St. Stanislaus Key Club wants to show that we should give life a chance, and that the unborn child is also a child of God.

All of the churches in the area have been invited to participate as well as CYO groups and parents. For further information, contact Brother John Hotstream at St. Stanislaus.

Blood drive scheduled

Since 1953, the Hancock County Blood Bank has been working in the county to collect blood, which is drawn and stored by the Red Cross. Because of the work of this agency, many lives have been saved.

The blood bank maintains awareness of the great need for donating blood.

Director John D. Rutherford Jr. reports there will be a blood drawing Dec. 13 from 2-7 p.m. at the American Legion on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Renew A Cajun Christmas Tradition "teet ami" (Little Friend)

Folklore has it that when proceeds of a pecan harvest go toward keeping bread on the family table, the season's "final few" are also sold to be given as gifts which yield continued love and blessings throughout the coming year.

This gift of a single pecan is, in turn, given in a Christmas sock only to a family member or friend to renew those blessings.

Be this a tradition born from wives tales or humor, it is a gift of love and hope.

After the 1947 Legislative Reorganization Act, that committee was merged with the Military Affairs Committee to form what we now refer to as the Senate Armed Services Committee.

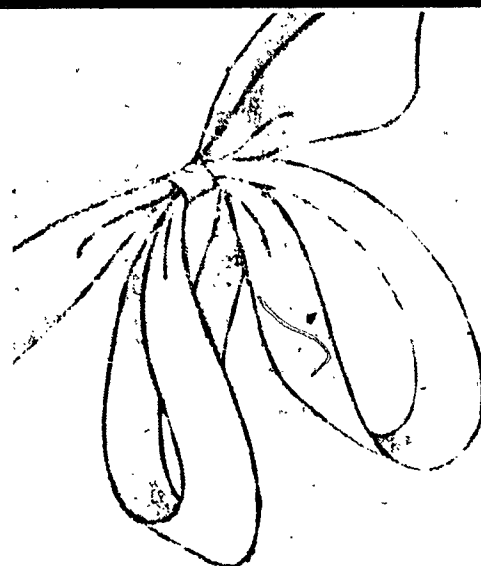

Senator Jefferson Davis represented our state on the Military Affairs Committee from 1847-1851 and then again in 1857.

Today, Mississippi and the U.S. military are still a strong team. We are building ships at Ingalls in Pascagoula, ammunition for the Army in Picayune, torpedo guidance systems in Forrest, and parachutes in Columbia.

We're training pilots at Columbus Air Force Base and the Meridian Naval Air Station and teaching airmen at Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi.

And National Guard combat units train extensively at Camps Shelby (Hattiesburg) and McCain (Grenada), while Air National Guardsmen from all over the United States come to the Gulfport Air National Training Site to use the sophisticated simulation equipment essential for maintaining a high level of combat readiness.

I am proud to be in a position to strengthen those ties and keep America safe and secure.

Bay schools receive grants from Mississippi Power Foundation

Two grants totaling $4,643 have been awarded by the Mississippi Power Foundation to North Bay Elementary School and Bay Middle School in Bay St. Louis.

Dr. Donald Cotten, chairman of the foundation, said a $2,853 grant was awarded to help fund a first grade reading program at North Bay Elementary. A $1,790 grant was given to Bay Middle School for support of a fine arts theatre project for sixth grade reading students.

The elementary school project involves literature-based reading with language instruction and uses children's books and process writing to help students," Cotten explained.

First grade teacher Mary Kay Deen is developing the project, which will serve as a language instruction lab for other teachers at North Bay Elementary.

The middle school project will fund studies of live stage productions. Sixth grade students will also attend a December production of "Babes in Toyland." The project is designed to help students understand that live, staged productions offer an alternative to video entertainment.

The project is being developed by Bay Middle School English teachers Doris Diamond, Debra Moran, Diane Spraberry and Jane Lamb.

The Mississippi Power Foundation Inc. was established as a non-profit organization by Mississippi Power Company in 1984 and has awarded more than $500,000 in grants to schools in Mississippi.

BACK TO NATURE

'Tis the season for our winter feathered friends

Special to the Echo
By LYDIA SCHULTZ
Some Decembers come and go without too much activity in our back yards. But this one has been busy!

Just a couple weeks ago as I was talking to my neighbor, I heard the unmistakable loud, nasal "honk, honk, honk" of the Red-breasted Nuthatch. "Red Nuts" get us birders an exaggeration, but certain species can make one feel overwhelmed.

Food source is the key. If their food source is not what it needs to be to support their lives to the north of us, they will be driven South. And that's us.

Last year we saw no Purple Finches at our feeders for the winter; disappointment galore for feeder watchers. They are a pretty sight in their cranberry garb. But the food source for them was fine in the north and inch. The Owhees, Thrashers, Cardinals, Chickadees, and Titmice were everywhere. The Mockingbird scowled while guarding its (dunno if it's a male or female) pyracantha which is aglow with berries. I was grateful for the Wren checking the garden for bugs and the Thrashers literally digging in the soil for its food. They do a great job.

But all of these were joined by so many White-throated Sparrows that winter here. I saw Brown-headed Nuthatches and a "Red Nut" finally made an appearance at the feeder. Even several Goldfinches that I'd been hearing showed up in their drab winter plumage.

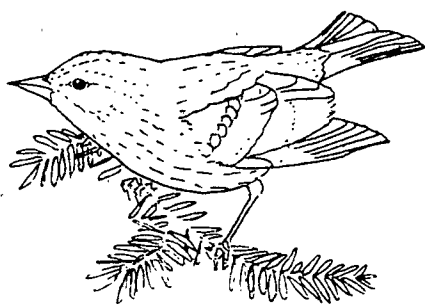

Then came the hum. You know I can't write a column without telling you about hummingbirds! So, to not disappoint you, yes, I have some. So do others. There are definitely around the Mississippi Gulf Coast excited because they are an "infrequent eruptive." That means we know they come here from their normal range of the northern U.S. and southern Canada, but it's not often. You can count on them every four or five years, maybe, if we're lucky. You get the picture?

What drives an eruption of a certain species to our feeders in droves? Do you remember the invasion of the Pine Siskins of 1987? My customers were "complaining" (not really) of thousands of Siskins. I knew it was they didn't need us.

So what I am trying to tell you is that every year is different and each is exciting. We can learn a lot by looking out the window.

As I stood by mine the last few mornings, I was awed at how many species were at home in my tiny yard. The year-round regulars checked out every three in my yard and possibly more. They all appear to be in the Selasphorus family which means that they are from the western U.S. and wintering along the Gulf Coast.

I give you the family instead of the species because it is so difficult to determine between an Allen's hummingbird and a Rufous unless they are in hand.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

The true Creole of Cajun (Acadian) Bordelaise Sauce, those ever-so-fancy French cookbooks notwithstanding, is made only with butter, olive oil, garlic and seasonings, and is quite delicious on or with just about everything (all right, I've never tried it on ice cream, of course, although I confess that I think a sprinkling of cayenne pepper does wonders for a scoop of vanilla ice cream—another old Creole treat!).

Don't say "Yuk" (my younger grandsons' expression for anything distasteful) until you try it. It's a taste treat to which I was introduced years ago by a Creole friend in New Orleans. But, back to the Bordelaise.

It's ever so tasty over steak, of course, but quite delicious as well over pasta and shellfish. Some cooks add red wine to the sauce when serving Bordelaise over steaks. One of my favorite ways of using this tasty sauce is:

SHRIMP-SPAGHETTI BORDELAISE

1 lb. shrimp, shelled
1/2 lb. spaghetti
1/2 stick butter or margarine
3-4 Tbsp. olive oil
2 tsp. finely chopped garlic
2 green onions, chopped
2 Tbsp. minced parsley

In a heavy saucepan, melt the butter or margarine over low, low heat, and add the oil, next the garlic and green onions, dashes of pepper and salt and cayenne, and perhaps a dash or so of hot pepper sauce if you wish (I do) and cook until the garlic barely, barely starts to brown.

Add the shrimp and parsley, and continue cooking until the shrimp are just pinkish—don't overcook, they'll be rubbery! Serve over the freshly-cooked spaghetti. (Four servings.)

Bordelaise sauce is also tasty, without the shrimp, of course, with oysters and spaghetti. I like it also "as is"—just the sauce over pasta, with grated Parmesan cheese dusted over the dish with a lavish hand.

Or you might add bits of ham or crab to the sauce—in other words, many of us in America are learning these days to cook and serve our pasta as the Italians do—in many, many other ways then with the usual tomato or meat sauce. Try it! Enjoy!

(This is a good dish for a holiday buffet supper—increased proportions, of course.)

Apple lovers take note—this is your time of year

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Red Delicious, Golden Delicious, Granny Smith, Rome Beauty, Arkansas Black, Ashmead's Kernel, Esopus Spitzenburg, Pitmaston Pineapple, Sweet Sixteen, Winter Banana...whoa!

The first few names are easily recognizable as varieties of apples, but everything after Rome Beauty may be a mystery to most readers. Actually, they're all variety names of apples. Those unfamiliar names are either very old or very new varieties.

Walk into any grocery store and you will know it's "apple time of year." The fruit displays are literally running over with apples. The three apple varieties taking up the bulk of the display areas are the first three listed: Red Delicious, Golden Delicious and Granny Smith.

While more than 7,000 varieties of apples are grown in the United States, only eight account for most of the production. McIntosh, Jonathan, York, Stayman and Cortland are the five other popular varieties.

York is one of my favorite apples. It's not the most colorful apple, but it is firm, tart and tasty. It's easily recognizable since it looks like someone leaned on it.

Many varieties not in the top eight to 15 most popular varieties are grown only on a limited basis and are not available in the standard market channels. Yet, they are excellent apples and fit nicely into a specialty market. One company taking advantage of this is Applesource, a mail-order marketplace that ships specialty apples.

For the past several years I've received a fall copy of the Applesource catalog, and it is the source of the unfamiliar variety names listed at the beginning of this article.

If you'd like the address of this unique company, just send me a card or note asking for the address. Be sure to provide your mailing address. Write: Dr. Milo Burnham, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, P.O. Box 5446, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

The states leading in apple production are Washington, Michigan, New York, California, Virginia, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and West Virginia. There are other states that produce apples as a major crop, and then there are states where apples grow.

I hope I don't insult anyone by suggesting that Mississippi is in the latter group since I'm not out to pick an argument with any producers in the state.

I've seen some beautiful Mississippi apples, and I've eaten some darn good apples grown by Mississippi gardeners. Every year I wind up judging apples as part of the horticultural displays at county fairs. An occasional gardener, here and there, exhibits some exceptionally fine apples. One Union County gardener's apples have consistently caught my eye and stolen the show.

Freddie Raspberry, extension fruit and nut specialist, recommends these varieties for growing in home orchards: Red Chief, Starkspur Golden Delicious and Ozark Gold for central and north Mississippi; Anna, Ein Shiemer and Dorsett Golden for south Mississippi.

The 1989 U.S. apple crop is a big one. Washington produced 75.3 million boxes of apples. (Each box weighs between 40 and 45 pounds.) The quality of this year's apple crop is reported as excellent.

Because of the withdrawal of the chemical Alar from the market, consumers can be assured that this year's apples are Alar-free.

Apples are probably my favorite fresh fruit—though bananas run a very close second—and apple pie is my favorite fruit pie. This fall I've seen the apple and cranberry industries merge their advertising campaigns together with an apple-cranberry pie.

They suggest using 1 cup of fresh or frozen, whole or chopped cranberries for every 2 cups of apples used in a pie. A 9-inch pie takes about 4 cups of apples and 2 cups of cranberries. Enjoy! This can't be anything but good eating!

TIME OUT

By Dena Bisnette

When University of Southern Mississippi's football season turned out to be, well, less than exciting, one of the things that got pushed aside was the hope of a Heisman Trophy for a coast player.

Well, Brett Favre didn't get to bring the trophy home, but you can still see the Heisman right here at home—just a slightly older version.

We got word Wednesday morning that Felix Blanchard of San Antonio, Texas, better known as Doc Blanchard, has donated his 1945 Heisman to his alma mater, St. Stanislaus.

A permanent display is being arranged at the school for the Heisman and two others Blanchard received while playing for the U.S. Military Academy, the Sullivan and Maxwell trophies.

I know many local residents remember Blanchard and appreciate the fact that he has remembered St. Stanislaus.

If your young baseball player wants to hone his skills for next season, the Gulf Coast Holiday Baseball camp, Dec. 22 and 23 at Gulfport High's baseball field, might be a good Christmas vacation activity.

Camp hours are 8:30 a.m. until noon for players nine to 12 and 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. for age 13 to high school juniors. The camp will concentrate on fundamentals.

Preregistration is $35 per participant with brochures available at Sportsman's Corner in Gulfport, MVP Sports in Orange Grove and Pro Image and Grand Slam in Biloxi. Registration on the first day of camp is $40.

Instructors are scheduled to include Mississippi State University Assistant Coach Steve Smith, Gulf Coast Community College Head Coach Cooper Ferris and Assistant Coach Carl Graham, Gulfport High Assistant Coach Glenn Dewese and Ocean Springs Head Coach Steve Tomaszewski.

This week's Cycles Plus Bicycle Club ride is the Robinwood Forest Loop. Riders should meet at Cable Bridge Road and Vidalia Road for a 9 a.m. start. The loop is about 35 miles of rolling to hilly terrain.

Anyone who is not a member of the club but would like to go along on the ride should call Cycles Plus at 467-1706.

On Saturday, tie your jingle bells to your shoe laces and meet up at Hardy Court Shopping Center in Gulfport if you want to give your feet a try in the fifth annual Jingle Bell Run.

Be prepared to run a little farther than you're used to, however, because this one's a 6K instead of the usual 5K. Of course, as in all events hosted by Gulf Coast Running Club, there will be an accompanying one mile health run/walk.

La Leche League is sponsor for the event, which begins at 9 a.m.

Also, there's the annual Pass to Bay Run coming up Dec. 16. Sponsored by Hancock Bank, it's a 6.4 mile course from Henderson Point across the Bay Bridge with the finish line in front of Dock of the Bay.

For information or pre-registration for both events, contact Lindo Sullivan of Gulf Coast Running Club at 832-6071.

Congratulations to an acquaintance from my days before I "discovered" the Gulf Coast, former Pass Christian resident Robin Roberts—I just heard she signed with ESPN.

About a month before I moved to Bay St. Louis in 1984, Robin left WJAM, a Hattiesburg television station, to go to work for WLOX. I was back in college and stringing for a newspaper in the same area back then and we used to run into each other from time to time.

It sounds like a great job, Robin. Enjoy yourself.

Contributions to Time Out have apparently entered the annual holiday slump, but I know sports don't stop that long for Christmas. The Sea Coast Echo needs short sports-related items for this column, which must be submitted by Tuesday afternoon for publication in Thursday's paper.

Sports season never ends for former Bay resident

BY DENA BISNETTE

Football seasons never quite end for former Bay St. Louis resident Nathaniel Fairconnetue.

Fairconnetue serves as athletic director at Picayune High School and has just completed his second season as head football coach. He also serves as head coach for the girls' track team.

If he isn't on the field or track with young athletes, he's involved in the business of the athletic director job. Currently, he's working on basketball, a job with duties that include everything from arranging for game officials to making sure that somebody is available to work in the concession stand.

When it's not actually football season and few other people are thinking about the sport, Fairconnetue will be working on schedules, equipment inventories and all kinds of other matters related to football—and the other sports at Picayune High.

He said he likes both the athletic director and coaching jobs, primarily because he enjoys dealing with students. Somehow, he manages to fit teaching a few driver education classes into his schedule.

Fairconnetue has also been at Picayune for a long time, although not as long as his predecessor and one of his chief mentors, Calvin Triplett.

After graduating from Delta State, where he fit track as well as football into his schedule, Fairconnetue spent four years coaching at Natchez, then made the single change in location in his entire career—he went to Picayune as an assistant coach the same year Triplett took over.

He served as one of Triplett's assistants until the older coach retired after the 1987 season.

Fairconnetue feels he has done well, particularly in view of a whirlwind high school career.

Until his junior year at Bay High, he hadn't even been on a football team.

Son of a career military man, Fairconnetue grew up in several places, including New Orleans and Tokyo, where he lived on an American military base and was on a junior high basketball team which competed against teams from other bases.

He moved to Bay St. Louis in time to attend high school at St. Rose de Lima.

St. Rose closed and, Fairconnetue said, "I went to Bay High and it was the first time I had ever played football on a team. I went out that first year not knowing what to expect."

He met the first of the coaches who would influence him, J.E. Loiacano, who was an assistant at the time.

"Because of my size, 5'10 and 140, he played me at defensive back or running back, but after the first game our starting tailback was injured and he put me there. That's what I've been playing ever since," Fairconnetue remembered.

NATHANIEL
FAIRCONNETUE

He immediately became one busy ballplayer. Although keeping detailed statistics on players had not become common, Fairconnetue remembers seeing a lot of action.

"I carried the ball a heck of a lot during the course of two years; I scored a lot of touchdowns and I gained more than 1,000 yards."

Not many colleges were interested in a 140-pound running back, however, so Fairconnetue tried out at Pearl River, where he became a full-time starter as a sophomore and remains in the top ten in some rushing categories.

He held the longest run from scrimmage and yardage for a single game records until they were broken this season by a player named Toefield, who broke all of the Pearl River Community College records in rushing.

Fairconnetue attracted enough attention to attend Delta State University on a football scholarship.

Fairconnetue said he likes to see his own players break records as well as see them have good futures. So far, two of his Natchez players have gone on to pro ball, Hugh Green of Miami, and Danny Knight, who played with the New Jersey Generals in the short-lived USFL.

The coach feels that he saw

SSC defeats Bay High in soccer

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws continued their victory streak by defeating the Bay High Tigers 4-2 in a district soccer match Friday, Dec. 1.

This victory indicates "that the team is beginning to draw together as a cohesive unit," said Stanislaus Coach Mark Foley.

St. Stanislaus took a commanding lead of the game during the first half, outshooting the Tigers 15-4, but more importantly, outscoring them

2-0. Scoring for the Rock-A-Chaws in the first half were David Eckert and Jesse Hays, with assists from Trey Kidd and David Eckert.

The second half saw a more aggressive Bay High team scoring two goals, but each Tiger goal was answered by a Rock-A-Chaw score, resulting in the 4-2 victory for the Rocks.

Second-half goals for Bay High were scored by Lee Murphy and Gary Carber while the Stanislaus lead was extended by David Eckert's second goal of the evening and Trey Kidd's score in the final minutes of the match.

The Rocks' junior varsity powered past the junior Tigers 6-0, with goals by Kirk Edrington, Darrin Rose, Jeff Loup and three scores by John Rutherford.

The Rocks will move on to be challenged by Gulfport this Friday evening at home.

"Last year the Gulfport games were very spirited and moved rapidly, and I expect that this year's game will be just as exciting," stated Coach Foley.

The Stanislaus victory improved their record to 3 and 1 overall; 1 and 1 in league competition. The Friday match will begin with the junior varsity at 5:30 p.m., followed by the varsity at 7 p.m., both at the St. Stanislaus Football Stadium.

Contest draws 40 skaters, 15 cyclists

A total of 40 skaters and 15 bicyclists from three states participated in a Saturday evening competition sponsored by Hancock County Recreation Association and Cycles Plus Bicycle Club.

Carley Capers of Ocean Springs won first place in the bicycle competition, followed by Edward Schwall and Scott O'Brien, both of Kenner, La. Skateboard competitors were divided into several divisions. In the beginner A division, the top three finishers were Nick Donaghey of Kenner, Chris Schmidt of Bay St. Louis and Sunshine Dorris of Bay St. Louis.

Beginner B division winners were Danny Strehle, Chris Cowart and Stephen Sharp, all of Bay St. Louis.

Reggie Sevin of Waveland took first place win intermediate skate competition, with Richard Hobbs of Long Beach placing second and Donovan Rivera placing third.

Advanced competitors included several sponsored and team skaters. In first place was Bobby Pavone of Metairie, followed by Tom Drake of Ocean Springs, who is a member of T-Bags skate team and is sponsored by Hot Seasons, Venture Trucks and Style Eyes. Placing third was another T-Bags member, Pete Kelly of Pensacola, Fla.

Judges included Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre, Steve Thoms, Brent Lusich and Andrew Barrett. John Ross served as announcer and Milton Travis provided music for the event.

CEHS tops Bensford, 60-46

Tyrone Jones scored 25 points and grabbed six rebounds to lead Coast Episcopal to a 60-46 victory over Bensford Tuesday night in Bogalusa.

Bensford had defeated the Raiders 38-32 in the opening game of the season, but the Raiders used a balanced attack to gain their fifth win of the season.

The Raiders built a 24-16 margin at the intermission and maintained that lead at 36-28 at the end of the third period.

On the Raiders' first seven possessions of the fourth quarter, they connected on six field goals and two free throws as they built their lead to as much as 18 points.

"We ran our man-to-man offense to perfection in the fourth quarter," said Raider Coach Jack Hutchison.

"Our game plan going in was to get them out of their zone and make them play man-to-man defense. This win showed that we're improving. Also with each win our confidence level increases," Hutchison said.

Jamie White had his best performance of the season as he scored 18 points and grabbed 15 rebounds. Chris Painter tossed in 14 points with Billy Guice scoring two and pulling down six rebounds. Paul Bernadas chipped in one point.

The Raiders travel to Jackson on Friday to take on Southside.

PRC takes first place in Coke Classic tourney

Pearl River Community College's basketball squad took first place in its own Coke Classic Tournament Saturday with a 90-87 win over Bossier Parish (Louisiana) Community College.

The win, which left the Wildcats at 5-4 on the year, gave the team a 3-0 record in the tournament, tied for first with Delgado of New Orleans in the round-robin format.

However, the Cats won the first tie-breaker by allowing opponents only 212 total points, while Delgado gave up 217.

"We both played the same teams, so it worked out well," said Peter Georgian, PRC's head coach.

Thursday PRC beat Natchez Community College 76-63 in the opening round, and dropped Mary Holmes Community College 96-62 Friday.

Delgado beat Mary Holmes

98-64 Thursday, Bossier 79-74 Friday and Natchez 103-79 Saturday.

The Wildcats will not have long to enjoy their success, however, as Saturday they will travel to play Delgado, which Georgian feels is the top team in the region.

And before they face that task, they will travel to Co-Lin Monday and host Southwest Thursday.

Georgian said the tournament win should give his team a confidence boost.

He said the team played well in most phases of the game during the tournament, especially cutting down turnovers from a season average of 22 a game to 11 in Saturday's contest.

Georgian stressed that it took a team effort to come out on top in the tourney.

"Three of those teams (Delgado, Gulf Coast and Bossier Parish) were loaded up (with talent), especially Delgado," he said.

He explained the Wildcat game plan called for pressure defense the whole day, and a lot of substitutions, using as many as nine players per night.

He felt the substitution played off in Saturday's outing, as the Wildcats seemed to be a little fresher than their opponents.

One that seemed fresher than most was Garnet Wilson, a 6-5 freshman from Jamaica, West Indies, who led the tournament in scoring with 89 points, including 36 Saturday.

He also pulled down 18 rebounds Thursday, which Georgian said was the highest total in his three years as coach at PRC.

B-team Raiders boast 5-0 record

Coast Episcopal's B-team ran its record to 5-0 on the season with a 21-16 victory over Bensford.

The win came in an annual manner as the Raiders played three quarters of the contest with only four players.

With the score tied after one period of play, one of the Raider players was benched for disciplinary reasons, and they were forced to continue to play with only four players.

After adjusting both their offense and defense, the Raiders, with 10 points each from Paul Bernadas and Nathan Guice, kept their winning streak alive and remained undefeated on the season.

some of the best potential he has found in a high school all-American from Picayune, Dwayne Brown, whose career at Mississippi State ended with knee surgery.

"He was a very coachable young man and had unlimited abilities," Fairconnetue said.

The coach worked mostly with offensive backs and receivers at Picayune until moving up to the head coaching job, and despite Triplett's absence, still feels--and welcomes--his influence.

"It was a pleasure coaching under him. I loved him like a father," Fairconnetue said, describing Triplett as one of the best high school coaches in the country. "I learned a lot under him and I hope his influence carries over to guys I'm coaching for years to come."

"We always had good teams. We never had a losing season under Triplett," he added in discussing the reasons for his own longevity at Picayune.

His first season did not look so good--Fairconnetue had to completely rebuild his team after having lost 25 players to graduation. Despite a 3-6 record, two of Picayune's victories were division games and they made it to the play-offs, only to be eliminated by Warren Central in the opening round.

Picayune made it again this year, with an 8-2 record, but lost to Meridian.

Fairconnetue's philosophy of coaching deals with a lot more than football. As a coach, he feels he is a father figure of sorts and believes he should do as much as possible to provide a good influence for young athletes.

"I tell them their number one priority in life should be listening to their parents, because parents more or less mold kids into what they're going to be," he explained.

He also stresses the importance of school, seeing teachers and administrators as parents during the school day, and urges young people to listen to the positive influences of adults in general.

"To be a coach, you have to love kids," he said, adding that he believes communication is the key to success as a coach. His key to his team's success, he said, is not actually the Wing-T offense he learned from Triplett, but the players themselves and the way they work together.

He remembers another adult who influenced him, his father, Albert Fairconnetue, and said that his only regret in his coaching career is that his father, who died in 1983, was not able to see him reach the head coaching position.

His father was an athlete too. "He used to play it all. He didn't push me to go out for anything, but he was always there. It makes you feel pretty good when your dad is your number one backer," he said.

His current backers include his wife Paula, his daughters Natalie and Nadia, and his son Nate Jr., who are residents of Picayune and members of St. Rose parish in Bay St. Louis.

Plastic worms: a lure for all seasons

Suppose just for a moment that for the next 12 months you could use only one lure for your bass fishing.

What would you choose? "A plastic worm," says top tournament angler Tom Mann Jr., a member of the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff and a former guide on Georgia's Lake Lanier. "The worm is a lure that is actually far more versatile than most anglers believe."

"You can rig it with a slip sinker and the hook imbedded Texas-style and fish it on the bottom. You can put the weight far up the line (Carolina-style) so the worm floats above the bottom."

"You can swim it on the surface without a weight. You can bite it in half and fish it like a short grub. And, with a swivel and no extra weight, you can actually fish the worm like a crankbait."

By using one of these options, says Mann, a worm can be fished in shallow water or deep, around rocks, trees and grass, and at all seasons of the year.

Two of the more unusual methods of fishing plastic worms are as topwater lures and as subsurface diving lures. The topwater "swimming" worm is an excellent lure to use around spring and summer vegetation, such as grass, lily pads and milfoil. The diving worm is particularly effective in early spring over points and in coves where bass may be moving to spawn.

"To rig a floating worm," explains the Evinrude pro,

"simply omit the slip sinker on your line. Impale your hook into the worm Texas-style so the barb is covered and the worm is weedless."

"When you retrieve, reel it back slowly so the worm looks like a small snake swimming on the surface. Bass will come up to hit this when they won't look at other lures."

To rig a diving worm, Mann suggests tying your line to a barrel swivel, then tying on a 12-inch leader. Leave off the sinker, and tie on a size 3/0 hook.

"Thread the hook into the worm but leave the hook exposed," he explains. "When you cast, the swivel will act like a weight and start to sink the worm. Let it sink about a foot or so, then jerk it with your rod tip."

"The worm will dart forward just like a crankbait. Keep retrieving it this way, and you'll pull bass out from cover, and be able to see them hit. It's really fun."

Mann's single color for a year of worm-only fishing would be a hue known as red-shad, because it appears as a very natural color under all water and light conditions. Mann would pick a six-inch model worm with a straight, rather than curved swimming tail, because he feels it offers more versatility.

"Most of the time I rig a plastic worm with a 3/16-ounce slip sinker," he notes, "along with a 3/0 hook. I like to use 12-pound test line because it's easy to cast."

Diamondhead Boaters Association

By Liz and Bud Barnes

Some 110 boaters observed Thanksgiving at a dinner dance at the Community Center on Friday, Nov. 17. Greg Perry initiated the festivities with a prayer recognizing our many blessings and our gratefulness for being able to be there.

The Cajun-style, sumptuous dinner included deep-fried turkey, rice dressing, candied yams, green beans and french bread prepared and buffet served by J. Guidry of Louisiana. These were complemented by a potpourri of fruit salads, cranberry sauces, pies and cakes prepared by the ladies attending.

The invitations were a joint effort of chairman Liz Barnes, Bernice Johnson and Nina Cotton. Liz prepared the autumn-leaf name tags worn by all attendees. Energetic and enthusiastic social director and Mardi Gras Queen-elect Nina Cotton, made the arrangements for this annual event. She also provided the materials for decorations, including fresh pumpkins, and was assisted in their arrangement by Mary Jo Keel, Nell Perry, Mary Rivers, Pat Stafford and Bud Barnes.

No Thanksgiving festivity would be complete without Pilgrims and Indians. Nina Cotton and Bud Barnes, dressed in Pilgrim costumes made by Nina for earlier-year celebrations, were outnumbered by Indians who skillfully provided their own costumes. These included Squaws Babbling Brook (Mary Jo Keel), Little Aussie (Mary Rivers), and Swooning Doe (Nell Perry), as well as Chief Running Mouth (Roy Keel). A singular two-feathered Brave (Davis Hawthorne) made up the pow-wow band.

Billie Jean Bargar won the door prize of a frozen turkey. She was luckier than perhaps she realized for at least on one previous occasion, the turkey door-prize was still gobbling his protest of the whole affair.

NOW, BEFORE ALL THE WHINING AND CRYING, SLURPING AND BURPING

THERE'S BEEPING. YES, BEEPING!

Men all over town are wearing beepers that go off when their wives go into labor. That way, Dad knows when it's time to take Mom to the Slidell Memorial Regional Women's Center, to give Baby a truly Beautiful Beginning.

For couples in the Beautiful Beginnings Program, Pop Phones are just the start. We also offer classes for siblings and parents to ready them for the new member of the family, because everybody needs a little coaching.

THE BEAUTIFUL BEGINNINGS PROGRAM

It takes some adjustments to make room in busy lives. In our classes, mothers, fathers, and even other children are taught how to handle and feed babies. In addition, they learn many of the little things that make having a new baby in the family easier on everyone.

(504) 646-0560

Beautiful Beginnings is a high-quality obstetrics program that provides all you need to keep tension to a minimum and the indescribable joy of birth to a maximum. All at a price that will let you start your child's college education fund on Day One.

Land lease is beneficial to landowners and hunters

Leasing land benefits both hunters and landowners. With the price of hunting going up over the last several years, leasing is the simplest way for the landowner to tap this source of income.

Hunters benefit from leasing in that they can get exclusive rights to quality land; then they can often manage wildlife and improve their hunting.

Landowners often prefer to lease their land for several reasons. Lessees can help post land and discourage trespassers; some may help maintain roads and gates.

Lessees may also help pay for improvements like wildlife food plots and cover plantings, which in turn make the wildlife resources more valuable. And, last but not least, there is the money.

The first step for the landowner to do is advertise. The local paper is a good starting point, but the big city newspapers, within a two or three hour drive, should be also considered.

A higher price may be obtained from large cities. Hunting magazines are also a good place to advertise. The primary leasing season is spring and summer and should be kept in mind when advertising.

What should a landowner charge? The best way to find out is by responding to other advertisements and by asking around. Many current leases are under priced—try a price on the high side.

Landowners should have a proper lease for their own protection. All people included in the agreement should sign.

If the lessees want to bring guests, prepare a form so that they take written responsibility for them. Have an understanding of whether or not the lease is transferable. The lease should include a legal description of the land that can be hunted; for example are you leasing all of your land or only a portion?

There are other points to consider that should be stated in the lease. State the price and method of payment (which should be made in advance). The beginning and ending dates of the lease should be stated.

Also, there are the decisions of whether the lease is for all year or just the hunting season, and whether or not it is a long-term lease.

Another consideration is what kinds of hunting is included—deer, small game, quail or fishing. Trapping rights should be leased separately.

To protect their property, landowners should prohibit hunters from cutting or damaging trees. Mark particular trees or require hunters to use dead wood for campfires, specify that hunters may not put nails in trees. Nails ruin timber and firewood.

A "hold harmless" clause should be included. This clause protects the landowner from liability and makes the lessees responsible for any accidents they cause.

A "hold harmless" clause is not infallible protection against a lawsuit, but puts the odds of winning in the landowner's favor. The landowner should consult with an insurance agent about extending coverage or consider requiring the lessee to purchase liability insurance.

Add a clause that allows you, the landowner, to end the lease if hunters violate game laws, litter, encroach on neighbors, or misbehave in some other way.

A landowner can write up his own lease, but it is advisable to have a lawyer to look over and approve it. His advice is worth paying for and he can prepare a lease to your specifications.

Leasing is a new option for hunting on private lands. It benefits both hunter and landowner through mutual agreement.

For assistance in managing wildlife, contact the Soil Conservation Service at 255-3225.

Real estate seminar to be offered Dec. 15

The Mississippi College School of Law is sponsoring a one-day seminar on real estate on Friday, Dec. 15, at the Holiday Inn Downtown in Jackson. Pre-registration of $100 per person will be taken until Dec. 8. Registration at the door is $125 per person and will begin at 8:15 a.m. with the seminar running from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

A panel composed of attorneys with experience and expertise in real estate law will lecture and answer questions on the broker, the closing attorney, and the lender.

The program will be chaired and moderated by Bobby L. Covington. The seminar will inform the general practitioner, the real estate professional and the mortgage lender about recent developments in real estate law.

Six hours of continuing legal education credit will be awarded for the seminar. For more information, contact Deborah Gray, coordinator at the law school, (601) 944-1950.

CAUSE NO. 20,345

TO: THE HEIRS AT LAW OF MARY L. WILLIAMS, DECEASED
You have been made defendant in the lawsuit filed in this Court by Complainants, whose address is: c/o Maria Laura Ramond, 314 Hoffman Street, Waveland, MS 39578.

The Complaint filed against you has initiated a civil action alleging that Maria Laura Ramond, Roberta W. Clark, Robert C. Williams, Mary Williams, and Loretta W. Toups, are sole heirs of Mary L. Williams, deceased, and seeking legal adjudication of the heirs of Mary L. Williams, deceased.

You are required to mail or hand deliver a copy of a written Answer either admitting or denying each allegation in the Complaint to John L. Gerin, Petitioner's Attorney, whose address is: P.O. Box 70, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

YOUR ANSWER MUST BE MAILED OR DELIVERED NOT LATER THAN THIRTY DAYS AFTER THE 7TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1989, WHICH IS THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS SUMMONS. IF YOUR ANSWER IS NOT SO MAILED OR DELIVERED, A JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT MAY BE ENTERED AGAINST YOU FOR THE RELIEF DEMANDED IN THE COMPLAINT.

You must also file the original of your Answer with the Clerk of this court within a reasonable time afterward. WITNESS my signature and official seal this 5th day of December, 1989.

PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY HEARING, DECLARING OTHER REQUIREMENT OF LAW

FIXING PUBLIC HEARING ON QUESTION OF CREATING CLERMONT HARBOR-LAKESHORE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT

The Board of Supervisors took up for consideration the question of the incorporation of a fire protection district within Hancock County, Mississippi, with the corporate name "CLERMONT HARBOR-LAKESHORE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT" of Hancock County, Mississippi, authorized by Section 19-5-151, et seq., Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated, As Amended, after a general discussion of the subject, Supervisor Robert Peterson offered and moved the adoption of the following Resolution:

"A RESOLUTION MOVING AND DETERMINING THAT THE PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY REQUIRE THE CREATION OF CLERMONT HARBOR-LAKESHORE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT AS A FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT WITHIN HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, AND FINDING AND DETERMINING THAT THE CREATION OF SUCH DISTRICT IS ECONOMICALLY SOUND AND DESIRABLE; DESIGNATION OF THE CONTEMPLATED AND TERRITORIAL LIMITS OF THE CONTIGUOUS AREAS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE DISTRICT; AND THE ACTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI TO CREATE SAID DISTRICT AS A FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT, WITHIN HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, AND DIRECTING THE CLERK TO PUBLISH A CERTIFIED COPY OF THE RESOLUTION IN THE MANNER REQUIRED BY LAW."

WHEREAS, on the 31st day of October, this Board

did adopt a certain Resolution fixing a time and place for a public hearing upon the question of the public convenience and necessity of the incorporation of the "CLERMONT HARBOR-LAKESHORE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT", and directing publication of the Notice and the purpose for such public hearing, which time is 10:00 o'clock A.M. on November 30, 1989, at the Board of Supervisors Meeting Room in the County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, the method of giving such notice being set out in full in such Resolution; and WHEREAS, the said Resolution did direct that such Notice be published as required by law in the Sea Coast Echo, which is a newspaper published and of general circulation in the County of the proposed district, and which is a qualified newspaper under the provisions of the law; and

WHEREAS, such Notice, in the form provided for in said Resolution was thereafter duly published by the Clerk of this Board in the Sea Coast Echo, a newspaper published and of general circulation in the County in which the proposed district is located, and which is a qualified newspaper under the provisions of the law, on November 2, November 9, and November 16, 1989, and therefore was published as required by law; and

WHEREAS, the Clerk of this Board has procured from the publishers of the aforesaid newspaper, the customary proof of publication of the Notice of such hearing as provided for in said Resolution; and has filed such proof of publication with this Board; and

WHEREAS, the Board finds and determines that all of the requirements of the law as to the adoption of said Resolution and the giving of Notice of the public hearing as provided for therein, have been fully complied with; and

WHEREAS, as provided in said Resolution, and in such Notice, the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, duly met on November 30, 1989, at 10:00 o'clock A.M. in the office of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, at the Board of Supervisors Meeting Room in the County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, for the purpose set out in said Resolution and such Notice; and

WHEREAS, this Board finds and determines that no protest or objection has been filed with this Board in opposition to the creation of the proposed "CLERMONT HARBOR-LAKESHORE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT" nor has any party appeared before this Board in opposition to the creation of the proposed "CLERMONT HARBOR-LAKESHORE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT"; and

WHEREAS, on November 30, 1989 this Board heard and considered evidence on the question of the public convenience and necessity of the incorporation of the proposed "CLERMONT HARBOR-LAKESHORE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT" and that the creation of such district is economically sound and desirable; and

WHEREAS, this Board finds and determines that the contemplated and territorial limits of the contiguous area of such district shall be designated as hereinafter set out in this Resolution:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, that this Board hereby declares its intention to create, at a meeting on December 29, 1989, at 10:00 o'clock A.M. in the Board of Supervisors Meeting Room in the County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, a Fire Protection District under the provisions of Section 19-5-151, et seq., Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated, As Amended, with the corporate name "CLERMONT HARBOR-LAKESHORE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT", that certain contiguous territory in Hancock County, Mississippi bounded and described as follows:

United Way support enables charities to operate

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The United Way of South Mississippi is truly the "vital link" which provides much needed funding to many Gulf Coast charitable and service organizations.

Now rounding the final lap of its own fundraising campaign, Hancock County United Way still needs approximately $20,000 to meet its $100,000 goal, according to Stephen Planchard, chairman. He is confident the goal will be met.

United Way funds are distributed among 20 agencies selected by a disbursement committee composed of community volunteers.

Three agencies were added in 1989, Parents and Professionals of Exceptional Children; Pierre the Pelican and St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Opportunities for exceptional children through social and educational activities and parents' peer support are provided by Parents and Professionals of Exceptional Children. They strive to increase community awareness of the abilities of the handicapped population.

Pierre the Pelican offers free monthly and quarterly newsletters to provide information to help unwed mothers during pregnancy, birth and the child's development from ages 1-6. The service is available to anyone who is expecting or has a small child.

Volunteers in the St. Vincent de Paul Society assist the needy in a variety of ways, helping to furnish them with financial assistance and counseling.

Other agencies include: American Red Cross, Hancock

County Chapter; Boy Scouts, Cypress District; Catholic Social Services; Epilepsy Foundation of Mississippi;

Girl Scouts, Gulf Pine Council; Goodwill Industries; Gulf Coast Mental Health Center; Gulf Coast Women's Center; Hancock County Blood Bank; Hancock County Emergency Relief Center;

Hancock County Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund; Hancock County Food Pantry; Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP); St. Michael's Farm for Boys; Salvation Army; Senior Citizens Programs and USO (Worldwide).

A series of articles profiling these agencies will be printed over the next few issues of The Sea Coast Echo.

Hancock County Food Pantry feeds families in need

In early 1986, a group of members from area churches met and made plans to open a community food pantry. The purpose was to provide food to families facing emergencies such as the loss of jobs or illness.

The Hancock County Food Pantry was opened in May, 1986. A state charter was obtained and free quarters were made available by Civil Defense.

in their office on Old Spanish Trail. The Episcopal Church made the initial donation.

The pantry is now located in the old jail where Civil Defense has moved.

The pantry is staffed and operated entirely by volunteers from local churches. Each church has a director of volunteers. Approximately 60 volunteers are associated with the pantry.

The pantry is funded primarily by church members, clubs, organizations and other individuals who are friends of the pantry and is assisted by the United Way.

In the vestibule of each church is a collection box for the deposit of non-perishable foods. Each week the food is delivered to the pantry, along with any cash donations.

The only expenses are the phone bill and the purchase of food to supplement the donated food items.

Each applicant for food is required to bring a referral form from the welfare department, a church or other charitable organization. They are interviewed by a volunteer, and a four-to six day-food supply is bagged, according to the size of the family.

The bags are packed, using a standard list. The contents include peanut butter and jelly, canned meats, vegetables and fruit, pork and beans, tomatoes, tomato sauce, soup, rice, beans, macaroni and cheese, flour, sugar, spaghetti, hand soap and laundry and dish detergent. A bag containing bread, rolls and doughnuts is also packed.

Bakery products are donated by local bakeries and are kept in used, donated freezers.

Since the pantry opened, 2,800 families, approximately 9,700 people, have received emergency help.

Coast Mental Health expands services to meet needs of growing Hancock County

Nearly 20 years ago, the people of Hancock County made a decision to support the establishment of a community mental health-mental retardation center.

Joining with Harrison, Pearl River and Stone counties, they voted to commit a minimum of one and a half mills of their assessed property tax to help support the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center.

In doing so, they not only insured these much needed services would be available in this area, but they also made it possible for citizens in Hancock County to receive these services on a sliding fee scale. The sliding fee schedule, which bases fees on family income and other factors, means that no one is denied services because of inability to pay.

In 1969, the four counties, formally established a regional commission as the governing body for the community mental health center. Each county's board of supervisors appoints a mental health-mental retardation commissioner, and these four commissioners constitute a legal discretionary body.

ing office was moved from the seminary to the same Drinkwater Street location.

As the demand for services increased, a larger facility was needed and in the summer of 1983 the Hancock County programs were moved to what is often referred to as the "old Jitney Jungle building" on State Street in downtown Bay St. Louis.

This move represented a historic turning point for mental health and mental retardation programs in Hancock County. The availability of a larger facility enabled Hancock Industries to take on industrial type projects such as making pallets, assembling cable spools and doing contract packaging for major retailers. Also during this move, the building was remodeled to include two clinical offices and a waiting room. As a result, the level of clinical services grew from a one-day-a-week to a four-day-per-week operation.

The building was sold to Bay Technical Associates in January, 1987 thus requiring another move, which turned out for the best. The Hancock Goodwill offers training, jobs for handicapped

Goodwill exists to provide jobs and job training to the disabled. Founded in 1974, Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi soon opened a retail outlet in Bay St. Louis.

Self-sufficiency is the ultimate goal for the disabled persons who are trained in the main processing plant and the retail stores along the Gulf Coast. The workers are assisted to move from welfare and disability assistance to a more independent existence.

Over the years, Goodwill has provided hundreds of individuals with this help and has generated millions of dollars in wages and fringe benefits, boosting the economy of the Gulf Coast.

The retail store in Bay St. Louis has grown over the years, moving three times to larger quarters and expanding its capacity to collect donations.

A recently opened location in the Bay St. Louis Mall is double the size of the former store and offers twice the amount of merchandise for sale. "If you haven't seen Goodwill lately, you haven't seen Goodwill," according to local manager Angie Morreale.

Goodwill survives through the community's assistance through donations and support of the retail store. The United Way contribution makes up the difference in Goodwill's budget between the income realized through sales and the amount of money necessary to fund the program.

Persons wishing to donate items or requesting information may contact the local store at 467-7277.

RSVP Seniors give talents and time back to community

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) views older people as an asset, not a liability. Senior citizens have accumulated the knowledge and talents of a lifetime and have used these talents to benefit this community since 1973.

The 408 volunteers in Hancock County offer more than 96,000 community service hours each year.

These volunteers serve in many different non-profit organizations to fill a variety of needs. They work in the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, the Hancock County Food Pantry, Waveland Hospitality Program, Meals on Wheels and teaching classes in the Senior Citizen Center. The RSVP singers entertain in different nursing homes each week.

United Way funds enable the RSVP program to continue operating in Hancock County.

Men and women wishing to enroll in RSVP must be 60 or older and be willing to serve one hour each month in the community. For more information, call 467-9204.

"...a greater percentage of people are seeking mental health services..."

The current Hancock County MHMR commissioner is Mrs. Anita (Neetsie) Lamb. Each of the commissioners has an equal vote and the chairmanship is rotated annually. The commission in turn hires a center director who is the chief administrator for the programs in all four counties. The present center director is Jeffrey L. Bennett, MSW.

Initially, Hancock County residents had to travel to Gulfport to receive mental health services. The main office, located near Memorial Hospital in Gulfport, is a modern building, especially designed to be a mental health clinic.

As early as 1972, clinical services were provided in Hancock County itself in office space donated by the St. Augustine Seminary. In 1976, a program for seriously developmentally delayed children was opened at what is now the Silver Creek Catfish House on the Kiln-DeLisle Road. This program was closed in 1979 when the public schools were charged with the responsibility for the children in this category.

In the 1979, the Hancock Industries program for mentally handicapped adults was opened at the corner of Highway 90 and Drinkwater Street. Also at that time, the counsel-Industries program was moved to an industrial site at Port Bienville with even more growth potential.

The clinical offices were moved to a leased office suite in Shieldsboro Square, Bay St. Louis. This suite includes a waiting/reception area, three clinical offices including a special children's office and a group therapy-conference room. With the exception of direct medical contacts, all services available in the main office in Gulfport are now also available in Hancock County.

Hancock County has grown. The 1980 census listed 24,500 people. Estimates by the State Research and Development office now place the population of Hancock County at 32,000.

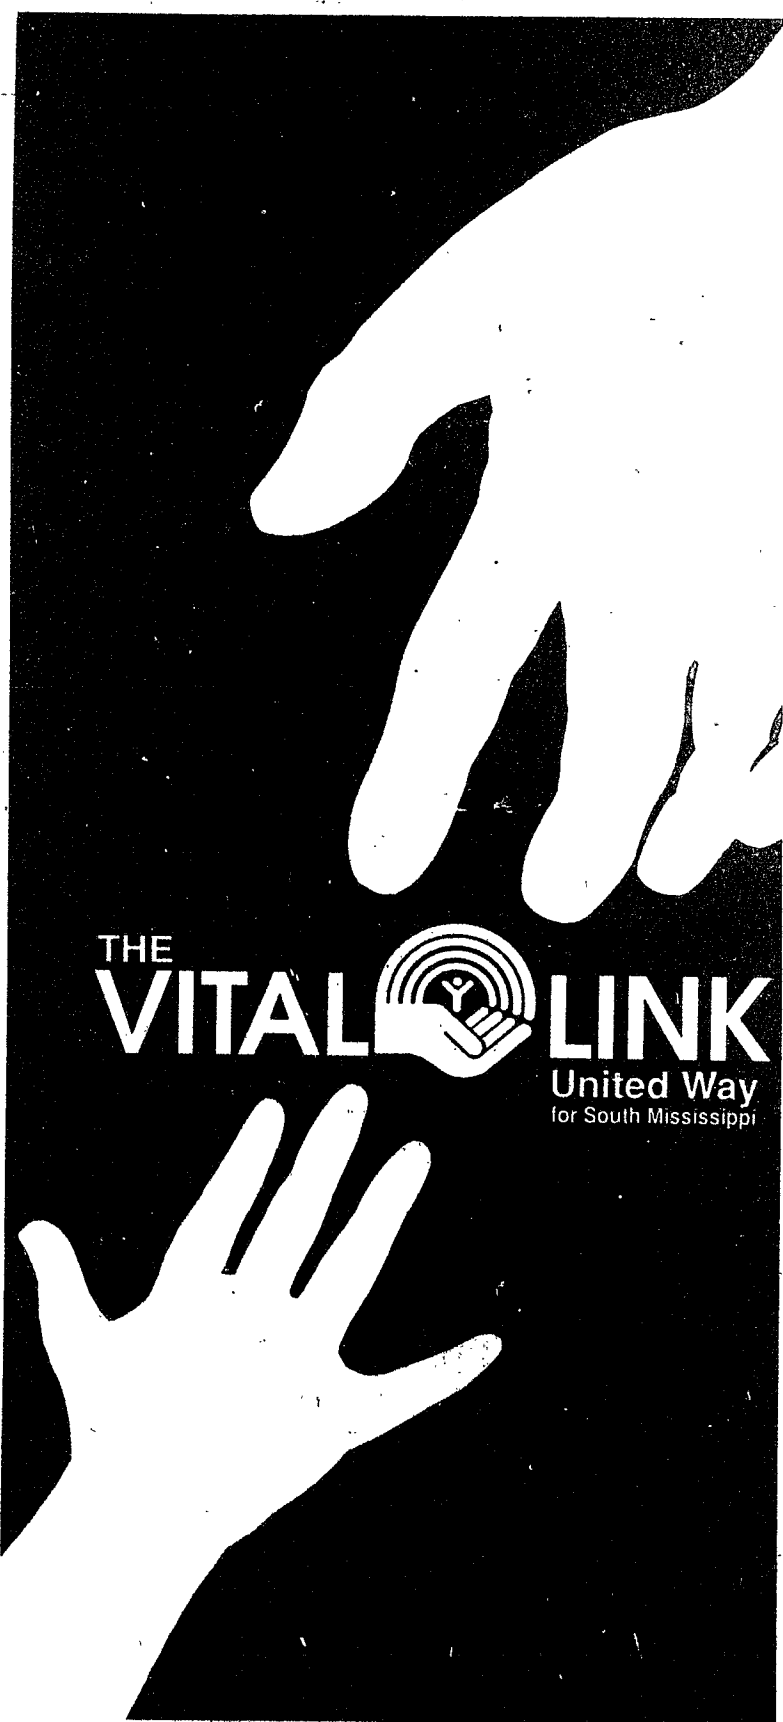

Meeting these growing demands presents a double challenge to the Mental Health Center. Not only has the population increased significantly, but within that population, a greater percentage of the people are seeking mental health services. Many people who would not have considered going to a counselor in the past now use these services for themselves or their children.

The Gulf Coast Mental Health Center is the recipient of United Way funds in Harrison, South Pearl River and Hancock or for drug and alcohol problems. United Way funds help meet needs not covered by other programs. An example would be the services provided to children who have been sexually abused.

counseling, family counseling, substance abuse programs, as well as services to persons with the more severe disorders.

Information about any of these services is available by calling 467-1881 or 863-1132.

Twenty-one members were present Thursday, Nov. 15 when the Blue Jeans Garden Club met for its annual Thanksgiving and Christmas arrangement competition. Mattie Garcia, Betty Klein, Beulah Peterson and Ada Schaefer were co-hostesses for the November meeting, which was held in the game room at the Clermont Harbor home of Mattie's son and daughter-in-law, Phillip and Yvonne Garcia.

Betty Klein opened the meeting by leading members in the recitation of The Lord's Prayer for the husband of Blue Jeans member, Annabelle Cox, who is seriously ill.

President Dot Feaheny presided over a very busy and important business meeting which included a discussion on the group's coming Christmas party and luncheon.

Christmas chairladies Jennie Ortis and Mary Danna reported all plans have been finalized for the Dec. 21 celebration.

Election of officers for 1990 were held after dispensing with several other business matters. Dot Feaheny was unanimously reelected and accepted to serve an unprecedented third year as president. Others elected were Margaret Heitzmann, vice president; Beverly Coogan, secretary; and Cathleen Taconi was reelected treasurer.

Winners in the Thanksgiving arrangement competition were: first place, a tie, Lucille Witter and Phil Lagasse; second, another tie, Beulah Peterson and Jennie Ortis; and third place, a tie, Joyce Hicks and Virginia Thomas.

Winners in the Christmas arrangement competition were: first place, Eunice Foret and Alice Brechtel; second place, Mayola Rotterham and Dot Feaheny; and third place, a three-way tie, Mattie Garcia, Margaret Heitzmann and Gladys Goodloe.

Winner of the 50-50 was Beulah Peterson.

Margaret Heitzmann was winner of the door prize, a lovely hydrangea plant donated by Betty Klein, co-hostess.

Pass Christian Senior Citizens

The Pass Christian Senior Citizens Center held its monthly birthday party on Wednesday, Nov. 29.

There were 20 members and guests in attendance. Punch, cakes and cookies were served.

Members having November birthdays were Vesta Gavagnie, Katie Marino and Joyce Sutherland. Everyone sang Happy Birthday to Vesta as she was the only one able to attend.

The gift shop at the center is open every weekday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. There are many items for sale at reasonable prices.

St. Stanislaus organizes Mu Alpha Theta chapter

Thirty-five charter members have been inducted into Mu Alpha Theta at St. Stanislaus High School. Induction into this math honor society is based on grade point average as well as leadership, service and character.

The officers of the newly-formed Mu Alpha Theta chapter are Do Nguyen, president; Manning Montagnet, vice-president; Paul Johnson, secretary; and Matt Danko, treasurer. The faculty advisor is Mrs. Carolyn Cromwell.

Mu Alpha Theta, co-sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, is an organization whose purpose is to stimulate interest in mathematics by providing public recognition of superior mathematical scholarship and by promoting various mathematical activities.

There are approximately 1,200 chapters in 42 states and Canada, Japan, Switzerland and Germany. Colleges and major universities are recognizing membership in Mu Alpha Theta as a significant part of a student's academic record.

IRS seeks local taxpayers for refunds

The IRS is trying to give $192,625 back to Mississippians who paid too much in federal income taxes. The post office has sent the 498 checks back to the IRS marked "undeliverable." The average amount of the checks now waiting at the IRS for their owners is $387.

"The refunds range from a dollar to over $7,000," said Tully Miller, Jackson district director of the IRS. "If I had over $350 coming back to me from Uncle Sam, and especially if I was waiting for $4,000 to $6,000, I'd surely let the IRS know my correct mailing address."

The Department of the Treasury issues federal tax refund checks to Mississippians as soon as tax returns are processed. They are mailed to the address the taxpayer puts on the return, usually in 4-6 weeks after initial receipt at the service center. Each year, according to Miller, some checks are undeliverable for many reasons and are returned to the IRS.

"Often the address is incorrect, sometimes the taxpayer has moved without notifying the post office of a forwarding address, or maybe the forwarding order a taxpayer left at the post office has expired," Miller explained. The taxpayer may have changed last names, or perhaps the handwriting on the tax return was illegible.

The best way to avoid misdirected refund checks is to use the peel-off label found in the tax package making any necessary changes right on the label," said Miller.

Taxpayers who did not receive their refund checks should call the IRS on the toll-free line at 1-800-242-1040 to make arrangements for the checks to be mailed to them at their correct address.

Miller said the checks must be reissued and mailed to the owners of the refunds only after

MILITARY MENTION

SEAMAN GYINS

Navy Seaman Kent E. Gyins, son of Scolly and Evelyn Gyins of Bay St. Louis, recently made a port visit to Karachi, Pakistan while deployed to the Indian Ocean aboard the repair ship USS Jason, homeported in San Diego.

While in port, Gyins assisted in numerous ship orientation visits for members of the Pakistani Navy and the Frency Navy. Community action projects were also conducted at the Marie Adelaide Leprosy Hospital and the Dar-ul-sukon orphanage, where shipboard volunteers provided painting services and general repair work.

Gyins also participated in various sporting events against teams from the Pakistani Navy, the American Consulate, and students from the Karachi American School.

A 1984 graduate of Bay Senior High School, he joined the Navy in June 1984.

Haas promoted at Holiday Inn

Jennifer Haas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Haas of Bay St. Louis, has been promoted to assistant food and beverage director of The Holiday Inn of Hammond.

JENNIFER HAAS

Haas recently completed her management training program at the Holiday Inn in Vicksburg and assumed her new management duties in Hammond. She completed her bachelor's degree in hotel and restaurant administration at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Vice president of operations Scott Lovett stated in announcing the appointment: "We are proud of Ms. Haas' performance and feel that she will continue to become an extremely valuable part of our management team."

Haas also gained one year of hotel experience at the Ramada Renaissance of Jackson.

Now Phone Service Comes In Your Favorite Calling Patterns.

Tailored To Save

Economy Service You don't make many local calls? Economy Service can help you trim your phone bill down to size — while expanding your local calling area.

Under the new Area Calling Plan, Economy Service turns nearby long distance numbers into local calls at lower local rates. You can call these areas without dialing "1" before the number. Just dial the seven-digit phone number the same as you would when making any other local call.

Designed For Versatility

Standard Service Well suited to the phone styles of those who make more calls, Standard Service stretches the savings with a discount calling package. It also expands your local calling area, turning nearby long distance numbers into local calls at lower local rates. Instead of dialing "1" before the number, you dial just seven digits as you would when making any other local call.

The Area Calling Plan. A New Style Of Saving!

South Central Bell's Area Calling Plan gives you two new ways to save on phone service. It expands your local calling area so you save on calls to many numbers that were previously long distance. And it gives you more control over your local phone bill. If you use your phone less, you pay less.

With the Area Calling Plan, one phone style doesn't have to fit all. Now you have a choice. And the new plan has been designed in two different versions, so you can tailor your phone service to your individual calling patterns.

All telephone customers in this area will receive information in the mail that explains the benefits of the Area Calling Plan. We think you'll find it helpful in matching your calling style to the phone service that fits you best.

If you prefer a set monthly rate and don't make many long distance calls to nearby cities, Flat Rate Service will continue to be available. Your local calling area will remain the same as before.

For more information, call at no charge 1 557-6500 (residential customers) or 1 557-6000 (business customers).

TIP OF THE WEEK

BURT WOLF

FOOD EXPERT

PERFECT ROASTS

Leaving a thermometer in a roast throughout the cooking time damages the meat and lets the juices out. Use a thin, fast-reading thermometer. You will get a reading in seconds.

To test your thermometer, dip it in boiling water. It should read 212 degrees F. If not, adjust the nut behind the dial.

For all the recipes, tips and information in Burt's
T.V. reports, get a copy of the What's Cooking Cookbook. Exclusively at Winn-Dixie for $3.98.
